ORGANIZATION.

The Departments comprising the Course of Study of this institution are:

1. The Department of Literature and the Arts.
 2. The Department of Science.

Degrees.

1. Bachelor of Arts.
 2. Bachelor of Science.
 3. Master of Arts.

The degree of A. B. will be conferred only on those who have satisfactorily completed the studies prescribed for the Classical Course.

The degree of B. S. will be conferred only on those who have completed the prescribed Scientific Course.

The degree of Master of Arts may be conferred on any student who, after receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science from this college, or from some other institution of equal grade, shall have passed a satisfactory written examination on such subjects as he may have selected according to the Course prescribed for the M. A. degree.

REQUISITES

For Admission Into College Classes.

All students must bring satisfactory testimonials of good moral character; and those from other colleges certificates of dismission in good standing.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class will be examined on the following subjects:

I. For Admission to the A. B. Course.

1. LATIN.—Caesar's Gallic War, four books; Sallust, Jugurthine War; six orations of Cicero. Four books of Virgil's Æneid will be accepted instead of Sallust, but the student will then be required to make up the deficiency in prose.

2. GREEK.—Four books of Xenophon's Anabasis, prose composition, and translation at sight. Two books of Xenophon's Hellenica, or an equivalent amount from other works of Xenophon, or from other Attic prose, will be accepted for two books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

3. MATHEMATICS.—Algebra: simple and quadratic equations, ratio and proportion, progressions, indeterminate coefficients, binomial theorem, common logarithms, choice and chance; plane and solid geometry.

4. ENGLISH.—Note: No candidate will be accepted in English whose work is notably defective in point of spelling, punctuation, idiom, or division into paragraphs. Baskervill and Sewell's Grammar is suggested as indicating the amount of formal Grammar required for entrance.

(a) READING.—A certain number of books will be set for reading. The candidate will be required to present evidence of a general knowledge of the subject matter, and to answer simple questions on the lives of the authors. The form of examination will usually be the writing of a paragraph or two on each of several topics, to be chosen by the candidate from a considerable number—perhaps ten or fifteen—set before him in the examination paper. The treatment of these topics is designed to test the candidate's power of clear and accurate expression, and will call for only a general knowledge of the substance of the books. In place of a part or a whole of this test, the candidate may present an exercise book, properly certified by his instructor, containing compositions or other written work done in connection with the reading of the books.

The books set for this part of the examination will be:

1901 and 1902. Shakspeare's Merchant of Venice; Pope's Iliad, Books I., VI., XXII., and XXIV.; The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Goldsmith's Vicar of Wakefield; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Scott's Ivanhoe; Cooper's Last of the Mohicans; Tennyson's Princess; Lowell's Vision of Sir Launfal; George Eliot's Silas Marner.

In preparation for this part of the requirement it is important that the candidate shall have been instructed in the fundamental principles of rhetoric.

(b) STUDY AND PRACTICE.—This part of the examination presupposes the thorough study of each of the works named below. The examination will be upon subject matter, form, and structure.

The books set for this part of the examination will be:

1901 and 1902. Shakspeare's Macbeth; Milton's Lycidas, Comus, L'Allegro, and Il Penseroso; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Macaulay's Essays on Milton and Addison.

In addition, the candidate may be required to answer questions involving the essentials of English grammar, and questions on the leading facts in those periods of English literary history to which the prescribed works belong.

5. HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY.—United States History. Montgomery's Leading Facts of American History is suggested to indicate the amount of matter which the examination will cover. Physical Geography—The examination on this subject will be based on such treatments as are found in Maury's or Davis's Physical Geography. A knowledge of General Geography will also be required.

II. For Admission Into the B. S. Course.

1. LATIN.—Same as for A. B. Course.
2. MATHEMATICS.—Same as for A. B. Course.
3. ENGLISH.—Same as for A. B. Course.
4. HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY.—Same as for A. B. Course.

5. MODERN LANGUAGES.—French and German. An entrance examination is required in French and German. To enter the Freshman French Class the student must have completed an elementary Grammar, studying carefully, pronunciation, forms of nouns, pronouns, and verbs, and he must also have read at least two books in French. The entrance examination will cover the above named work. Hence the student should be thoroughly prepared on the regular conjugations of the verb, (including reflexives), all the common irregular verbs, forms of negation, position of personal pronouns, use of relatives and interrogatives, plural of adjectives and nouns. Students will be asked to translate into good English some ordinary narrative prose, also some English into French.

To enter the Freshman German Class the student must have prepared himself thoroughly on the declension of nouns, adjectives, and pronouns; conjugation of verbs (strong, weak, and modal auxiliaries), the more elementary rules of syntax, and the elements of word formation. Students will be required to translate common prose at sight. Applicants should have read at least one hundred and fifty pages of German before entering this class.

The following are approved text books for beginners:

French—Edgren's, Whitney's, Duffett's, or Aldrich & Foster's Grammars; Super's, Rollin's, Kuhn's Reader.

German—Whitney's, or Thomas's Grammar; Super's, Hempt's, or any equivalent Reader.

Prescribed Course for the A. B. Degree.

Candidates for degrees must complete the full course prescribed either for the degree A. B. or B. S. Any student not a candidate for a degree may pursue a select course of not less than three studies requiring fifteen hours of recitation-work per week.

Post-Graduate Course for Master of Arts.

The degree of Master of Arts may be conferred on Bachelors of Arts or Bachelors of Science, of at least one year's standing, on completing any one of the following groups of studies and passing satisfactory written examination upon the same.

By consent of the Faculty, an equivalent may be submitted for any one subject in either of these four groups.

Group I.

1. ECONOMICS.—Perry's Political Economy; Mill's Principles of Political Economy; Gallaudet's Manual of International Law.

2. HISTORY.—Schouler's History of the United States; Bancroft's History of the Constitution of the United States; Green's History of the English People; Guizot's History of Civilization.

3. PHILOSOPHY.—Hamilton's Metaphysics; Lotze's Outlines of Practical Philosophy; Schweigler's History of Philosophy; Storr's Divine Origin of Christianity; Theory of Morals [Janet].

Group II.

1. ENGLISH.—(a) Beowulf [Harrison & Sharp]; Selections from Chaucer's Canterbury Tales [Morris]; Dowden's Mind and Art of Shakespere. (b) American Literature: Bryant's Translation of the Iliad; Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter, and Blithedale Romance; Emerson's Essays; Holmes' Autocrat of the Breakfast Table, and Elsie Venner; Lowell's Biglow Papers; Longfellow's Tales of a Wayside Inn; Poe's Complete Poetical Works; Lanier's Complete Poetical Works. (c) Five essays of two thousand words each, to be written upon subjects assigned by the Professor.

2. MATHEMATICS.—Differential and Integral Calculus, and Differential Equations.

3. ASTRONOMY.—Doolittle's Practical Astronomy, with use of American Ephemeris; History of Astronomy [Clerke].

Group III.

1. LATIN.—Catullus, Lucretius, Propertius, History of Roman Literature, Roman Drama.

2. GREEK.—Euripides' Medea; Clouds of Aristophanes; Greek Literature [Jevons]; History of Greece [Grote]. An approved thesis must be prepared on some subject assigned by the Professor.

3. FRENCH OR GERMAN.—(a) Selected works of Alfred de Musset, Moliere, Paul Bourget, and Daudet Melle's Contemporary French Writers; Saintbury's History of French Literature. An essay in French. (b) Schiller's Wilhelm Tell; Goethe's Faust; Nathan der Weise, Emilia Galotte, and minor dramas and prose. The Life and Writings of Schiller and Goethe, and some work in German literature with an approved essay in German.

Group IV.

1. CHEMISTRY.—(a) Theoretical Chemistry [Remsen]; Practical and Analytical Chemistry [Clowes]; Quantitative Analysis [Clowes and Coleman]; Whiteley's "Chemical Calculations," or (b) "Organic Chemistry [Bernthsen]; "General Organic Chemistry" [Hjelt]; "Rise and Development of Organic Chemistry" [Schorlemmer]; "Organic Preparations" [Emil Fischer]; "Laboratory Manual" [Orndorff].

2. PHYSICS.—Advanced work in Light and Heat, or in Heat and Electricity. "The Conservation of Energy" [Balfour Stewart]; "Treatise on Meteorology" [Loomis].

3. NATURAL HISTORY.—"Manual of Geology" [Dana]; "Economic Geology of the United States" [Tarr]; "General Biology" [Sedgwick and Wilson].

Department of Philosophy and Economics.

I. W. COOPER, PROFESSOR.

The studies in this Department are under the direction of the President of the College. The effort here is so to conduct the recitations that the young men of the Junior and Senior classes may reap the largest and best results of the entire preceding course, which may all, in a sense, be regarded as preparatory to a proper appreciation of the truths and doctrines embraced in the vast fields of thought. The object is to give the student such an introduction to these several branches of learning as shall not only afford a good degree of present mental culture, but also to implant a stimulus to life-long study in one or more of them.

Sophomore Class.

FIRST TERM.

During this term two hours a week will be devoted to the study of the Evidences of Christianity.

Text-Book: The Divine Origin of Christianity (Storr).

Senior Class.

FIRST TERM.

Three hours a week will be given to the study of Inductive and Deductive Logic. Four hours a week will be given to Moral Philosophy and American Citizenship.

Text-Books: Robinson's Moral Philosophy, Willoughby's Rights and Duties of American Citizenship, Jevon's Logic.

SECOND TERM.

During this term the class will study Mental Philosophy and Political Economy, giving three hours of recitation a week to each.

Text-Books: Mahan's Mental Philosophy, Gide's Political Economy.

Reference Books: Psychology (Hill); History of Philosophy (Schwegler).

Department of English Bible.

H. B. CARRE, PROFESSOR.

No people of antiquity has, either through its history or literature, more powerfully influenced the history and thought of subsequent times than has the Jewish people. A slight acquaintance, at least, with the history and literature of the Hebrews is essential to an understanding of the history of Europe, and since modern literature is permeated with Jewish thought and phraseology, ignorance of Jewish literature, as preserved in the writings of the Old Testament, incapacitates one for appreciating his own literature.

The New Testament is the most influential book in existence, and aside from its value as a book of devotion, it is of paramount importance to the student of present day philosophic, ethical and religious problems.

It is felt, therefore, that no one's education is complete, if the thought and literature of the Bible have been omitted, and the course here offered is designed to meet, in some measure, this want in modern education. It extends over the four years of the college course, one hour per week.

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM.

Old Testament History and Geography. Study of the leading ideas, rites and customs of the Jews.

SECOND TERM.

The work of the first term continued.

Sophomore Class.

FIRST TERM.

Study of Hebrew Poetry, its form and content. The major part of the work will be in the book of Job and the book of Psalms.

SECOND TERM.

Study of the mission and writings of the Old Testament Prophets.

Junior Year.

FIRST TERM.

Study of the Synoptic Gospels and the Life of Christ.

SECOND TERM.

An inductive study of the principal teachings of Jesus.

Senior Year.

FIRST TERM.

A study of the rise of the Christian Church. The book of Acts will be used, with reference to the Epistles.

SECOND TERM.

An historical and exegetical study of First Thessalonians and Galatians. An inductive study of the leading ideas of the Apostle Paul.

It will be seen from the above outline that an attempt is made to put the student in possession of the leading facts and ideas of the Bible, to give him an acquaintance with the principal forms of Biblical literature, and to indicate approved methods for further Biblical study. The course of study is planned with a view to the historical development of the Biblical writings, beginning with the historical facts of the Old Testament, and concluding with the important teachings of the Apostle Paul.

Department of Mathematics.

J. E. NORTHCUTT, PROFESSOR.

Applicants for admission into any class are expected to have prepared themselves thoroughly in the elementary principles of the science. Furthermore, having regard for the future advancement of the student, we earnestly request that he should not attempt to enter a class for which his attainments do not qualify him. Neglect of the above suggestions frequently impedes the progress and represses the enthusiasm of the student to an irreparable extent.

Special importance is attached to the study of Mathematics, as a means of intellectual improvement and discipline. The science moreover is recommended to the favorable consideration of the student, on account of its intrinsic value and dignity, as well as the extent of its absolute utility.

To enter the Freshman Class, the candidate must stand a written examination on the prescribed course of Mathematics in the Sub-Freshman Class. Applicants for the B. S. degree will be required to give at least one hour per week extra to Surveying (field work) during the first term of Freshman year. Calculus and Mechanics are required only in the B. S. Course. The following is a statement of the course now given:

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM.—Plane and Spherical Trigonometry and Surveying (Wentworth). Five hours per week.

SECOND TERM.—Analytical Geometry (Bailey and Woods). Five hours per week.

Sophomore Class.

FIRST AND SECOND TERM.

Calculus (Taylor). Three hours per week.

Junior Class.

FIRST TERM.—Mechanics. Three hours per week.

Department of Natural Sciences.

J. M. SULLIVAN, PROFESSOR.

The studies embraced in this Department are Chemistry, Physics, Geology, and Astronomy.

Instruction is given in the undergraduate work by recitations and lectures, great importance being attached to the economic and practical side of each subject. Post-graduate work is offered, as outlined in the general schedule of courses.

Each student will be charged a laboratory fee of five dollars.

Chemistry.

Besides giving a thorough drill on the fundamental principles of the science and requiring a careful study of the facts and methods presented in some good text-book, the student is taught to make accurate explanation of various chemical phenomena. The laboratory is supplied with apparatus and chemicals which admit of extensive experiments, and these are selected with care so as to illustrate forcibly the facts that are studied. Well-arranged and up-to-date text books are considered important, but in this, as in other subjects of this Department, the work of the student will not be confined to the texts prescribed. Lectures by the Professor will be distributed through the courses, the object of which will be to give a more accurate and extended knowledge of the subject by the presentation of additional facts and a variety of methods for practical work. Each student is expected to have his note book at every recitation, and to keep a careful record of lectures and experiments.

Sophomore Class.

SECOND TERM.—A course in elementary Chemistry will occupy two hours per week during this term. This is not offered as a full course, but merely as introductory to the chemical work of the Junior year. The student will be drilled on the nomenclature and fundamental principles of the science, and experiments will be freely used before the class.

Text-Book: Remsen's Introduction to Inorganic Chemistry.

Junior Class.

FIRST TERM.—The class will devote three hours a week throughout the term to a careful study of the non-metals, special attention being given to the writing of equations for chemical reactions and to the solution of problems.

Students taking the B. S. Course will devote two hours a week to the study of Experimental Chemistry, and three hours a week to Chemical Physiology (Lectures).

SECOND TERM.—Five hours a week during the first six weeks of this term will be devoted to the study of metals and their compounds. The student will be taught how to manipulate apparatus and required to perform experiments illustrating the preparation and properties of a number of elements and compounds. A course in Experimental Chemistry (four hours a week) and a course in Organic Chemistry (four hours a week) will extend through the term, but are not required for the A. B. degree.

Text-Books: Richter's Inorganic Chemistry, Coit's Chemical Arithmetic, Appleton's Carbon Compounds, Newell's Experimental Chemistry.

Reference Books: Remsen's Advanced Course, Wagner's Chemical Technology, Bernthsen's Organic Chemistry, Halliburton's Chemical Physiology.

Senior Class.

FIRST TERM.—Two hours a week will be devoted to Organic Chemistry, the course being given chiefly by lectures. A course in Qualitative Analysis will extend through the term, requiring six hours of laboratory work per week.

SECOND TERM.—Six hours per week will be devoted to Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis, and a course in the preparation of Carbon Compounds.

Text-Books: Noyes's Qualitative Analysis, Mills & North's Quantitative Analysis, Orndorff's Laboratory Manual.

This course will be required only of candidates for the B. S. degree. To each student will be assigned a desk fitted with apparatus and chemicals, and a careful record of the work done will be required. Accuracy, neatness, and economy will be insisted upon.

Natural History and Geology.

Senior Class.

FIRST TERM.—Mineralogy and Geology occupy three hours a week during the term. In addition to the text-book, various geological maps will be used, together with publications of the United States Geological Survey. The valuable collection of minerals and fossils belonging to the College and the private collections of the Professor in charge will be freely used. Some of the common minerals and ores will be subjected to tests in the laboratory. Candidates for the B. S. degree will devote one hour per week to the study of Palæontology.

Text and Reference Books: Dana's Text-Book of Geology (Revised), Dana's Manual, Tarr's Economic Geology of the United States, State Geological Surveys.

Physics.

The course in this subject embraces three hours of class work per week throughout the Junior year. It has been found advisable to use some work on General Physics as a text, and supplement this by lectures. Each student is expected to keep accurate notes, and will be examined on both text-book and lectures.

The structure and use of such instruments as the laboratory balance, thermometer, barometer, hydrometer, air pump, microscope, telescope, magic lantern, photographic camera, etc., will be practically illustrated before the class. Throughout the course the class will be required to solve various problems illustrating the application of principles studied.

FIRST TERM.—Elementary principles of mechanics; physical properties of solids, liquids and gases; sound, and heat.

SECOND TERM.—Light, magnetism, and electricity.

Text-Books: Carhart and Chute's Physics.

Reference Books: General Physics (Ganot). Heat and Light (Stewart).

Astronomy.

Senior Class.

SECOND TERM.—Four hours a week are given to this subject throughout the term. Besides a thorough course of General Astronomy, a brief course in Practical Astronomy will be given by lectures. The student will be carefully drilled in the meaning and use of astronomical terms and measurements. The principles will be explained in the class-room by use of a celestial globe and by blackboard illustrations. Frequent observations of the heavens will be made, and the class will meet once a week at night. Each student will be required to make use of the sextant in determining the instrumental error, and in obtaining data for calculating the latitude of the place. A portable telescope with a three-inch glass will be used for general observation. Students entering this class are supposed to have completed the undergraduate course in Mathematics.

Text and Reference Books: Young's General Astronomy, Doolittle's Practical Astronomy, and the American Ephemeris and Nautical Almanac.

Department of Latin.

C. N. LYNCH, PROFESSOR.

The course of study in this department is arranged with a view to sequence and utility, and with the hope of creating within the student's mind an appreciation of the beauty and elegance of Latin literature.

Sight reading and study of vocabulary shall form a portion of the work of each class, with intensive study of grammar and elaborate drills in composition. Informal lectures shall be given from time to time on subjects pertaining to Roman life, customs and literature. The introduction of a text-book on phases of Roman life into the Sub-Freshman Class and a study of Latin literature into the Sophomore Class strengthens the course greatly.

Applicants for entrance into the Freshman Class must be prepared to stand a satisfactory examination on the equivalent of the Sub-Freshman work. B. S. candidates are required to finish the Freshman work, and may then discontinue the study of Latin if they choose.

Outline of Work.

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM.

Prose Composition;
Grammar;
Virgil's Æneid (3 books).

SECOND TERM.

Prose Composition;
Grammar;
Virgil's Æneid (1 book);
Livy (2 books);
Mythology.

Sophomore Class.

Prose Composition;	Cicero—De Amicitia;
Grammar;	Cicero—De Senectute;
Horace—Odes and Epodes;	Cicero—Private Letters;
	Latin Literature.

Junior Class.

Tacitus—Agricola;	Terence—Andria (or Phormio).
Tacitus—Germania.	Plautus—Captivi (or Miles).

Senior Class.

(FOR A. M. DEGREE.)

Cicero—De Natura Deorum.	Ovid—Metamorphoses;
	Juvenal—Satires.

Text-Books: Bennett's Prose Composition; Allen & Greenough's Grammar; Greenough's Virgil; Greenough & Peck's Livy; Greenough's Horace; Kelsey's Cicero; Chase & Stuart's Tacitus; Chase & Stuart's Terence; Morris' Plautus; Allen & Greenough's Ovid; Chase & Stuart's Juvenal; Mackail's Latin Literature; Gayley's Mythology.

Department of Greek.

H. B. CARRE, PROFESSOR.

The study of Greek is pursued, not simply as a mental drill, but as a means for bringing the student into contact with the best thought of the Greeks, and of helping him to an appreciation of the importance and beauty of Grecian literature. The selections for reading have accordingly been made with a view of their interest as literature. In the Freshman year special attention is given to acquiring a large vocabulary as an aid to rapid reading.

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM.

Xenophon's Memorabilia; Grammar; Greek Prose Composition: Three hours.

SECOND TERM.

Plato, Apology, Crito, and selections from the Phædo (Kitchel's); Grammar; Greek Prose Composition. Three hours.

Sophomore Class.

FIRST TERM.

Demosthenes, Selected Orations, De Corona; Grammar; Greek Prose Composition. Three hours.

SECOND TERM.

Homer, Iliad (three books), Odyssey (two books); Grammar; Greek Prose Composition; Prosody. Three hours.

Junior Class.

FIRST TERM.

Euripides, Alcestis, Medea; Greek Prose Composition; Prosody. Three hours.

SECOND TERM.

Sophocles, Antigone; Aristophanes, Clouds; Greek Literature. Three hours.

Senior Year.

FIRST TERM.

New Testament. Special attention given to Hellenistic peculiarities of forms and syntax. Three hours.

Department of English Language and Literature.

M. G. EVANS, PROFESSOR.

The aim in this department is to give a clear and accurate knowledge of the history of the English language and of English and American literature, to enable the student to study appreciatively and critically masterpieces in both prose and poetry, and to develop in the student a natural and forcible style of writing.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.—An applicant for admission into the Freshman Class in English will be expected to be familiar with Reed and Kellogg's Higher Lessons in English, Bain's Higher English Grammar, Lockwood's Lessons in English, and Anderson's Study of Words, or some equivalent books. He must show some appreciation of the English language, and will be required to write an essay of not less than two hundred words upon some subject to be assigned by the Professor. His written work must be neat and must show accuracy in spelling, in punctuation and in use of capitals. The applicant will be expected to have had some culture in standard literature such as Scott's Ivanhoe, Goldsmith's Vicar of Wakefield, Addison's Sir Roger De Coverly Papers, Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice, Homer's Iliad, Books I. and II., Milton's L'Allegro and Il Penseroso, Coleridge's Rime of the Ancient Mariner, etc.

The course, in outline, is as follows:

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM—THREE HOURS.

A study of the history of English Literature, with one selection from each prominent author; essays and other written work.

Text-Books: Pancoast's Introduction to English Literature, British Masterpieces.

FITTING SCHOOL.

R. P. LINFIELD, - HEAD MASTER.

This important department of our work has just entered upon a period of new life and unusual energy, the past session having been the most successful in its history. The need of this section of the South in an educational line is a system of training schools, and Centenary has adopted the policy of sparing no pains to supply the recognized deficiency with a thorough and complete department for preparatory work. The Professors who have personal charge of this branch of our work have been selected with the utmost care and deliberation and their respective records in this grade of instruction are unsurpassed. Additional thereto, each member of the college faculty teaches at least one hour per day in the Fitting School, thus adding the force of "skilled labor" in his particular subject.

It is designed to receive boys from the grammar schools into this department and so systematize their work that they shall be easily competent to undertake the curriculum of the college classes. Our ideals are Thoroughness and Wholesome Discipline, and there is no doubt that the stressing of these two salient points is the prime factor in our gratifying success.

The appended curriculum furnishes an outline of the work which is done in this department, and we solicit for it careful consideration with special reference to its completeness and symmetry.

Special attention shall be given to penmanship, letter-writing (under instruction from the Superintendent of the Commercial School), grammar, spelling, reading and arithmetic in the first two classes. It is our desire to render students well-furnished in these fundamentals before promoting them. Two declamations and two compositions are required per month from each student. Those whose desire is to pursue work for the A. B. or the B. S. degree may inaugurate the course in this department. For B. S. students, the initial year in French and German has been classed as Sub-Freshman.

Applicants may be admitted to the Preparatory or the Intermediate Class on trial without a written examination, but admission to the Sub-Freshman Class can not be gained except by written examination or a certificate from a competent teacher.

Boys in the Fitting School, being in most cases too young for proper self-direction, are constantly under the care and supervision of the Professors of that department, being required to occupy desks in the study hall during the entire daily session of school and being carefully protected from evil influences outside the school room. Our discipline, without being oppressive, is conscientious and wholesome, and boys are in safe hands when they are enrolled in the Fitting School of Centenary College.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

J. M. REASER.

The aim of this department is to meet the long felt need of a commercial school under the direct supervision of a Christian institution.

Our desire is that a student may be able to get his business, as well as literary, education at a distinctively Christian college.

It is the purpose of the college authorities to admit students to this department exclusively, or partly to this and partly to the literary, just as they desire; and, further, to give a course equal to that of any commercial college in the country; and, on the completion of which course, to give a full diploma, with the usual significance of such a diploma.

Many of our literary graduates are sadly deficient in the common business principles, and it is the purpose of this department to supply that deficiency.

A student may take the course in one, two, or three years, according as he wishes to put all, or only a part of his time on it.

All students of the college may take the penmanship on condition that they pay the penmanship fee. Students in the Fitting School will be required to take the penmanship, their fee being included in the regular tuition.

Business Course.

Penmanship; Book-keeping (Single and Double Entry); Business Forms; Transactions, papers and their record; Stock Corporation Accounting; Commercial Law; Correspondence (for all kinds of business); Commercial Arithmetic; Spelling; Office Work of all kinds; Banking (optional).

In Book-keeping the student gets practice in Shipping, Commission, Manufacturing, Wholesale and Retail Business.

Shorthand.

A careful study of the theory and signs of Shorthand (Graham & Gregg), followed by a thorough course of practice in writing from dictation, for gaining speed.

Typewriting.

Spelling; Correspondence; Manifolding; Office Practice; Writing from dictation.

We have an experienced and thoroughly competent man at the head of this department, complete office fixtures, and all the furnishings of a first-class commercial school.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Expenses.

Board can be obtained in private families at prices ranging from $12 to $15 per month. This includes furnished room, fuel, light, and care of room. Meals in the Pharr Hall and care of room in the Dormitory at $8.75 per scholastic month. The food is well prepared, of sufficient variety, and of excellent quality. The Hall has for its business manager Prof. L. L. Upton.

Fees.

TUITION FEES.

Sub-Freshman Class and Collegiate Department, ten month..... $50

One-half must be paid when student registers, and the balance the first day of Spring term.

Fitting School, Preparatory and Intermediate Classes, ten months..... $40

One-half must be paid when student registers; balance the first day of Spring term.

In case patrons so desire, the President is authorized to accept notes at sixty days in place of cash for first payment on account of tuition fees.

Incidental fee, for school year $5

Dormitory fee, for school year 5

Library fee, for school year..... 1

These fees to be paid in advance.

Laundry service can be had per month, $1.

Each student is expected to furnish two pairs of sheets, one pillow, one pair blankets, or two quilts, and toilet articles. Those who room in dormitories will purchase their own furniture, or rent same. Fuel usually costs from 50 cents to $1 per month.

Location.

Centenary College occupies a beautiful spot upon a slight elevation in the town of Jackson, La. The campus, large and symmetrically proportioned, with its carpet of grass shaded by huge pine, beech and magnolia trees, presents a very picturesque appearance. On the college lands bordering upon the campus proper are found the tennis courts, the base ball, and other athletic grounds.

Jackson, a town of about thirteen hundred inhabitants, is twelve miles east of the Mississippi River, four miles from the Y. and M. V. Railroad, and is situated upon the first highlands north of the Gulf.

Buildings.

The large centre building was erected at a cost of $65,000. Its massive size, its huge Doric columns and its heavy basement all combine to make its appearance imposing. It contains an AUDITORIUM of large proportions, the roof of which is supported by double rows of Corinthian columns. The hall has a seating capacity of two thousand. It has, in addition, a large music stand and rostrum. In the main building are also found the HALLS OF THE TWO LITERARY SOCIETIES, which are handsomely furnished; the COLLEGE LIBRARY, which contains over four thousand volumes of both ancient and modern literature, including books of science, history, and philosophy, which date far back into past centuries, and huge folios filled with engravings, which represent Shakesperian and other literature, and the value of which can not be estimated, as they were imported from England at an early date by wealthy Louisianians, who paid fabulous prices for them; the MUSEUM, which contains, among other interesting things, a large and valuable collection of precious stones; the LABORATORY, fitted with valuable philosophical, astronomical, and chemical apparatus; a PRAYER CHAPEL, where all the students assemble every morning for devotional exercises; a Y. M. C. A. HALL, and eight large, well-furnished RECITATION ROOMS, in which the regular college work is conducted.

There are two wings, or DORMITORIES, one on either side of the main building, each containing twenty-four large and comfortable rooms for the use of students. Wood, and both cistern and well water, are conveniently accessible to the dormitories.

On or near the campus, too, are situated all the Professors' residences; so that the students have the constant attention of the Faculty.

Accessibility.

The Mississippi Valley Railroad and the Jackson Railroad render the college easily accessible from all parts of the country. Telegrams should be sent to Jackson, via McManus Station. There is direct telephone communication with Jackson by the Cumberland Long Distance Telephone Co.

Routes to Centenary College.

Students coming from North and Northeast Louisiana take V., S. & P. Railroad to Vicksburg; then take Y. and M. V. Railroad to McManus Station, thence on Jackson Railroad.

Students coming from West and Northwest Louisiana take T. and P. Railroad to Baton Rouge Junction; thence to Baton Rouge; thence on Y. and M. V. Railroad to McManus Station; thence on Jackson Railroad.

Students coming from South or Southwest Louisiana take S. P. Railroad to New Orleans; thence Y. and M. V. Railroad to McManus Station; thence on Jackson Railroad.

The Jackson train connects with all passenger trains on the Y. and M. V. Railroad at McManus Station.

Healthfulness.

The healthfulness of Jackson cannot be too highly commended. It is said that when that war-scarred old Spaniard, Ponce De Leon, was upon his search for the Fountain of Youth, and was camping in South Louisiana near the Mississippi river, a pestilence broke out among his soldiers, causing many of them to die. Having heard of a beautiful and health-restoring spring to the northward, he set out in search of that stream of crystal water which passes near Centenary College. Ponce De Leon's soldiers drank of this water, and were healed; hence he named it Rio Feliciana. He failed to realize, however, that it was not the water that restored his pestilence-stricken soldiers to health, but the removal of them from the dense Mississippi swamps to the health-giving upland country. The climate of Jackson is moderate and pleasant, and is not subjected to the extremes of heat and cold.

Moral Influences.

The moral and social influences at Centenary and Jackson are exceptionally good. There are three churches in the town, and a Y. M. C. A. Hall and a prayer chapel at the College.

The members of the Faculty are all consecrated Christian men, and the character and moral influences of each one are constantly brought to bear upon the students, pointing them to higher ideals and shaping their lives into nobler proportions. There is a State law forbidding alcoholic drinks to be sold within five miles of the College, so that the temptation of wine-drinking is removed.

Centenary has the advantage, too, of having among her students a number of young men who desire in the future to devote their lives to the ministry, and they have a good influence in shaping the spirit of college life, and in creating a wholesome and healthful moral atmosphere. Prayer services are held in the chapel every morning before the regular College exercises are begun, and the students have regular weekly services in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. The pastors of the several churches mingle with the students, and exert a very telling influence upon them. Students are required to attend divine worship in some church every Sabbath.

Discipline.

Each student must conform to the rules and regulations of the College. This is an important factor in a real education; to teach a boy not only to obey arbitrary laws, but to conduct himself according to the sense of right and duty in his own mind; not only to be governed, but to govern himself. Special attention is given as nearly as possible to the peculiar disposition and habits of each student individually. For any disorder or violation of College laws the offender is given one or more demerits, and if he persists in disorderly conduct until he has acquired twenty demerits, he is suspended. Public reproofs and private counsels, however, are given to the offender by the President from time to time as the demerits accumulate.

Preparatory Training.

Special attention is called to the requirements for admission given in this catalogue. It is often the case that too little attention is paid in our public schools to the study of English Grammar and to written exercises. Hence a great many applicants are wholly unprepared for the Freshman work in English. A still greater number have but little or no knowledge of Latin or Greek. It is therefore strongly urged that those expecting to apply for admission into the College classes make careful preparation for the entrance examination.

We should be glad to recognize the work of those training schools whose grade is equivalent to that of our Preparatory Department by admitting their students to our College classes without examination; but a certificate can in no case be accepted unless we have some assurance as to the kind of work done by the school from which the applicant comes. Those in charge of such schools who will co-operate with us are requested to notify the President.

Extracts from the Statutes.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

The exercises of every day shall be opened with prayer by the President or some other member of the Faculty, when all the students shall attend.

The students shall attend divine worship in the College chapel, or elsewhere, every Sabbath.

The due observance of the Sabbath is earnestly recommended, and practices inconsistent with the reverence due to the day are expressly prohibited.

OF PUNISHMENT OF MISDEMEANOR AND OFFENSES.

The punishments in the College shall be admonition, private and public; dismissal; suspension for a limited time; suspension for an indefinite time, and expulsion.

If any student shall neglect his studies, or interrupt the studies of another, or disturb or impede any officer in his lawful employment, or be guilty of profane cursing or swearing, or of intoxication, or of striking or insulting by words or gesture a fellow-student, or of keeping company with persons of known immorality, of raffling, of playing at cards, dice, or other games of chance, or of any other thing grossly immoral, of which the Faculty shall be the judge, he shall, at their discretion, receive any punishment.

OF ABSENCES.

Any student who leaves the community without proper permission, or absents himself from class-room, or is found loitering about the town, OR OTHERWISE NEGLECTING HIS WORK DURING THE STUDY HOURS, will receive punishment according to the offense. Students must present to the Faculty written excuses for all absences, which must be properly signed. A failure to present a written excuse at the proper time will incur a demerit. Students shall present their excuses for absences at the Faculty meeting next succeeding the absences. Excuses presented by resident students must be written by the parent or guardian.

OF PUBLIC SPEAKING.

In the College classes only REGULAR students will be allowed to contest for a medal, and no student shall contest for any medal unless he pass on at least two classes.

OF REGULAR STUDENTS, ETC.

Those are REGULAR students who intend to complete the course either for the B. A. or for the B. S. degree, and are pursuing work in all the departments required for either one of these degrees as far as they are classified.

Every irregular student must take at least three studies, and he shall do not less than fifteen hours of recitation work per week.

Examinations, Terms, Etc.

The regular session is divided into two terms. The First Term begins September, 1901, and extends to January 15, 1902. The Second Term begins January 15, 1902, and extends to June, 1902. The last six working days of each term are devoted to examinations. Vacations are given during the Summer months and during Christmas week.

Entrance examinations will be held either at the close of the Spring Term or at the beginning of the Fall term.

Examination grades will be averaged with sessional grades in passing a student from one subject to another and in awarding honors.

All examinations must be written, the maximum time allowed for each being five hours.

Parents are urged to have their boys here on time at the beginning of each term. Absences from any class will be a great drawback to the student and may cause him to fail in the examination on the year's work.

Literary Societies.

There are two literary societies, Franklin Institute and Union Literary Society, each of which has a large and well furnished hall. The members of these societies meet once every week and debate a question that has been made known at a previous meeting. Thus the students are afforded opportunities to practice the art of speaking publicly, and at the same time they learn the general rules and methods observed by deliberative bodies. Many of Louisiana's most famous orators have gone out from these two societies. Public debates are held each year and two joint debates. Arrangements have recently been made for inter-collegiate debating contests. The joint society publishes a monthly paper, "The Maroon and White."

Young Men's Christian Association.

(PREPARED BY A MEMBER.)

It is a recognized fact that the central aim of the student, that of developing the mind, is best accomplished when his surroundings are most pleasant; when he feels that he has friends who take an interest and a pride in him. The members of the Young Men's Christian Association meet the new students and give them a hearty welcome; they are glad to help and to encourage those who need their sympathy. During the year one or more receptions are given to all of the students.

The Y. M. C. A. Hall is conveniently situated in the main building, and is attractively furnished. It is hoped that all of the students can spend much of their leisure time in the Association Reading Room among the books and the fresh newspapers and magazines. The library of over three hundred and fifty volumes includes valuable books of reference, history, biography, etc. Additions are being constantly made, and contributions of good books or periodicals will be appreciated. What is more important in character forming than to read the lives of great men?

In the Devotional Hall is held every Sunday afternoon a meeting, the subject of which bears on student life or some form of Christian activity, and every Thursday a short prayer meeting, the aim of which is to deepen the Christian life of the students. These meetings are well attended, and their results are seen in the new life and new ideals of the boys. There is such a moral sentiment in Centenary that a boy is not only free to live uprightly, but is encouraged to do so. The Association provides Bible classes with specially trained student leaders. These additional to the Bible Course of the College curriculum.

The weekly Mission Study Class is supplemented in its work by a good selection of missionary books.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Centenary is one of the four hundred and fifty College Associations in North America, and these, comprised in the American and Canadian Intercollegiate Young Men's Christian Association, form a unit in the "Federation" of national student unions of the world. The Y. M. C. A. of Centenary College was organized in 1886 by Prof. J. M. Sullivan. Some of the field secretaries visit Jackson every session, thus imparting a fresh momentum to the work. The Association sends delegates every year to the State Convention and to the Summer Training School at Asheville, N. C., who come back imbued with new hope and enthusiasm to undertake greater things for the student body. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

J. L. Sutton	President.
W. L. Doss	Vice-President.
W. C. Laurence	Recording Secretary.
R. H. Harper	Corresponding Secretary.
W. G. McDonald.....	Treasurer.
G. E. Glasspool	Librarian.

Centenary Athletic Association.

The Centenary Athletic Association (C. A. A.) is a body of students organized for the promotion of athletics in the College. Under its auspices a Field Day is to be held each Spring, when valuable prizes will be contested for. The initiation fee is fifty cents, and a monthly payment of ten cents is required from each member for meeting current expenses. The officers are as follows:

L. O. Clark.....	President.
R. O. Randle.....	Vice-President.
A. J. Price	Recording Secretary.
F. O. Adams, Jr., ...	Corresponding Secretary.
J. M. Adams.....	Treasurer.
Prof. C. N. Lynch	Manager of Baseball.
Prof. R. P. Linfield	Manager of Field Day.
F. O. Adams, Jr., ...	Manager of Tennis.

Alumni Association.

There is an annual meeting of the Alumni Association on Tuesday before the first Wednesday in June, on which occasion an oration is delivered and a poem read by members previously chosen.

A business meeting is held during Commencement week, at which the orator and the poet for the following Commencement are selected. Former graduates are urged to be present. The officers for 1900-1901 are as follows:

A. R. Holcombe, Jackson, La.,.....President.
